Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (3) of section 718.303, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

718.303 Obligations of owners and occupants; remedies.-

(3) If a unit owner is delinquent for more than 90 days in paying a monetary obligation due to the association, the association may suspend the right of a unit owner or a unit's occupant, licensee, or invitee to use common elements, common facilities, or any other association property until the monetary obligation is paid. The common elements include, but are not limited to, recreation facilities, pools, gyms, meeting rooms, cable television service, Internet service, and valet service. This subsection does not apply to limited common elements intended to be used only by that unit, common elements that must be used to access the unit, electric and water utility services provided to the unit, parking spaces, or elevators. The association may also levy reasonable fines for the failure of the owner of the unit, or its occupant, licensee, or invitee, to comply with any provision of the declaration, the association bylaws, or reasonable rules of the association. A fine does not become a lien against a unit. A fine may not exceed $100 per violation. However, a fine may be levied on the basis of each day of a continuing violation, with a single notice and opportunity for hearing. However, the fine may not in the aggregate exceed $1,000. A fine may not be levied and a suspension may not be imposed unless the association first provides at least 14 days' written notice and an opportunity for a hearing to the unit owner and, if applicable, its occupant, licensee, or invitee. The hearing must be held before a committee of other unit owners who are neither board members nor persons residing in a board member's household. If the committee does not agree with the fine or suspension, the fine or suspension may not be levied or imposed.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 2011.
